Colored Sunday-School Institute.

The interest in the Institute was unabated during their last day's session yesterday. The whole of the morning session was occupied in the discussion of the question: What officers do our Sunday-schools need? The discussion took a wide range, and earnest speeches were made by Dr. Randolph, Dr. Corey, Dr. A. E. Dickinson, James H. Binford, superintendent of public schools,

Revs. Shepherd, Brooks, Colley, John Oliver, and others. John Oliver expressed his high gratificaion at the presence of Mr. Binford, paid a high tribute to the free schools of Richmond and the superior advantages they afford colored children, and of the combined power of the day and Sunday school to dissipate United States, ignorance and bring about a better state of feeling between the white and colored races. In the afternoon session the first topic discussed was, "What encouragement does the Bible give to Sunday-school work "? It elicited earnest speeches from Dr. C. H Corey, Dr. Rrndolph, Rev. W. H. Brooks,

Rev. Mr. Colley, Rev. L. B. Carter, and Rev. Mr. Smith. The next topic was, "What advantages are there in the uniform lessons "?

Dr. Randolph gave a very interesting account of the origin of this system. He stated that it originated with B. F. Jacobs, Esq., superintendent of the First Baptist Sunday school in Chicago, and Rev. Story of the Re-capture of two White Girls from the Indians.

CHICAGO, November 27 .- The following i an extract from an official dispatch of Colone Miles, received at Lieutenant-General Sheridan's headquarters this morning. It refers to the two girls whose rescue from the Indians was announced some time ago: "During the fight two white girls were captured from the Indians. It appears that these sisters, Adelaide and Julia German, aged three and seven years respectively, were captured in Kansas en route from Georgia to Colorado. They state that their father, mother, brother, and one sister were murdered, and that they and two older sisters were kept prisoners. They have no positive knowledge of their whereabouts.

"Their story of woe and suffering is simply too horrible to relate. They were almost naked and nearly starved. They are now under charge of Surgeon Waters, and will receive every care and attention, and when any house this side of New York strong enough to endure the journey will

He had consulted with Judge Bond and it had been decided, in consideration of the advanced age of the prisoner, to inflict the minimum punishment of the law. The Judge thereupon ordered the clerk to enter an order fixing his term of confinement at five years in the Albany penitentiary.

Captain John Lyon, of Mr. Broocks's counsel, asked that the clerk be instructed to furnish him with an official copy of the sentence, as he desired to proceed to Washington to lay before the President application for a pardon. It was so ordered. Amelia county. General H. A. Wise appeared for the defence. When the jury had been sworn he pleaded "not guilty."

Mr. Cabell, in behalf of the Commonwealth, stated the case from his standpoint. General Wise followed Mr. Cabell, and said that in the event of a conviction there was a new question which would present itself; one which probably had not been before thought of either by the prosecuting attorney or the court, and although the court has the right to fix the term of imprisonment of the accused, yet he contended that he had no right in a misdemeanor to chain-gang. Judge Guigon said that matter could be argued at another time. Messrs, Joseph M. Fowlkes, Philip Johnson, George D. Wise, Captain John Disney, Samuel M. Page, Detective O'Dwyer, Major John Poe, Jr., chief of police; Mr. Wallace Washington, and Major J. H. Claiborne,

Mr. Wise said that Wren carried him to the corner of Twelfth and Main streets, where he met Mr. Kuox. Mr. Wise and Mr. Knox then went across the street to the American Hotel, to a room, where he saw Mr. Dull and had an interview with him. Knox went into the room, he thought, for a moment, and then came out. Mr. Wise said that he saw Dr. Lewis, Purdy, and Dull, all three, there. ant. He said that while he was chief of po-

C. Cabell, attorney for the Commonwealth, when retiring from the court-room on the 24th instant, after the trial of the case of the Commonwealth against John Wren, who was indicted for a misdemeanor. Sergeant Wren was informed by Judge Guigon that the offence of which he had been guilty was a very serious one, especially as it was to an officer of the court. He could well understand, however, that he should have been excited immediately after the conviction of his brother, and vates, charms, and carries his audience by that would be the saving clause for him. He would not inflict the full punishment authorized by law, which is very summary and severe-ten days in jail and a fine of St. John's (Episcopal) church $20-but would only impose a fine of $25. He believed that the ends of justice would not be met unless he was punished in some way, and he had therefore decided to make
